→ September 2006, Jena, Louisiana. Two black students sat under the “white” tree at Jena High School. The next day, white students hung three nooses from the tree.

→ The noose-hangers got 3-day suspensions. Tensions mounted and several incidents of violence and threats against black students went unpunished. But when a white student got beaten up after taunting a black victim of the violence, everything changed

→ District Attorney Reed Walters charged six black students with second-degree attempted murder and the court set bail between $78,000 and $135,000. All 6 are now awaiting trial.

Act Now. We cannot let this kind of Jim Crow justice ruin the lives of these 6 young men. Learn the facts. Get involved now.
